If you do not have a telephone line already connected and active at your existing premises, a new telephone line connection will need to be organised. The costs of the telephone line connection will be as follows:

Once the existing telephone line is connected, the Naked DSL Connection Fee charges will also apply.

If you already have a naked DSL service with another provider, this may be transferrable to TeleMates. This would need to be assessed by a TeleMates provisioning specialist for availability.

Pricing for installation is based purely on the work assessment made by the installation technician and available infrastructure at your locations. A tech visit includes a technician attending the customer premises, street or telephone exchange.
